Shape the future of Novartis through transformative deal-making. As Executive Director, M&A Transactions, you will play a critical role at the centre of our growth strategy—leading high-value acquisitions and divestments that unlock innovation and drive long-term impact. Partnering closely with senior leadership, you will navigate complex, high-stakes decisions, influence capital allocation, and deliver transactions that strengthen our global portfolio. This is a rare opportunity to operate at enterprise level and directly contribute to reimagining medicine for patients worldwide.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

- Lead end-to-end execution of complex mergers and acquisitions transactions from strategy through closing
- Define deal strategies, governance plans, timelines, and engagement approaches with target companies
- Drive collaboration across legal, finance, tax, diligence, and commercial teams globally
- Oversee due diligence processes, ensuring rigorous evaluation of risks, value, and strategic fit
- Lead negotiation of transaction terms, balancing commercial value with long-term strategic priorities
- Prepare and present decision frameworks to executive leadership
- Ensure smooth transition from deal approval to integration, safeguarding value realization and strategic intent

Essential Requirements

- Extensive experience leading end-to-end mergers and acquisitions transactions across multiple deal types and regions
- Strong financial expertise, including valuation, financial modelling, and scenario planning
- Proven ability to align transactions with corporate strategy and long-term growth objectives
- Deep understanding of regulatory frameworks, competition law, and transaction governance processes
- Demonstrated ability to lead and influence complex, cross-functional teams at senior levels
- Exceptional communication skills, with experience engaging executive stakeholders
- Experience within the pharmaceutical or healthcare industry

Desirable Requirements

- Advanced degree in business, finance, or life sciences
- Medical or scientific background and experience is preferred
