Job description summary

The AD, Data Governance Lead is accountable for designing, standing up, and operating the enterprise data governance program. This individual establishes the governance operating model- including the Executive Council and core functional sub-committees- de-fines data lifecycle controls, builds performance scorecards, and partners cross-functionally with IT, Compliance, Legal, and Privacy to embed sustainable, auditable data controls across the organization.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities:

- Stand up and co-chair the Executive Council and coordinate all sub-committees.
- Develop charters, terms of reference, meeting cadences, agendas, and decision-tracking.
- Drive alignment of governance priorities with enterprise strategy and risk appetite.
- Establish federated data ownership and stewardship model across domains.
- Partner with IT, Compliance, Legal, and Privacy to fully develop, validate, and operationalize required controls.
- Develop, document, and maintain control frameworks at each lifecycle stage.
- Collaborate with data owners and enforce governance standards across the end-to-end data lifecycle.
- Build Data Management Lifecycle Scorecards measuring quality, coverage, compliance, and maturity.
- Define Governance KPIs/KRIs (e.g., data quality scores, classification coverage %, access-review completion, issue MTTR, policy adoption).
- Deliver executive dashboards and periodic DCAM maturity assessments.

Essential Requirements:

- Education: Bachelor's degree in Business Administration, Information Systems, Data Management, Engineering, Finance, or a related field.
- Strong facilitation and stakeholder-management skills — this role lives in meetings with functional VPs.
- Minimum 8+ years in Data governance, BI governance, or commercial analytics in a regulated industry. Preferably in pharma or life sciences industries.
- Extensive Experience running a cross-functional governance council or working group with real decision authority.
- Influence without authority across IT, Legal, Compliance, and Privacy.
- Deep knowledge of governance frameworks (DAMA-DMBOK, DCAM), privacy regulations, and control design.
- Experience with governance/catalog tooling (e.g., OpenMetadata, Collibra).
- Analytical rigor for scorecard/metric design and maturity assessment.
