Shape how digital quality enables innovation at Novartis. As Senior eCompliance Manager, you'll help ensure GxP-regulated computerized systems and emerging technologies meet evolving regulatory and data integrity expectations, while guiding teams through compliant system development and lifecycle management.

You'll partner across Information Technology and business functions, influence eCompliance strategy, and support the responsible adoption of automation and artificial intelligence. This is an opportunity to combine deep quality expertise with a forward-looking mindset and help build a strong, future-ready digital compliance environment.

About the Role

Major Accountabilities:

- Lead implementation of eCompliance strategy across globally regulated computerized systems and supporting infrastructure.
- Guide compliant development and lifecycle management of computerized systems, strengthening data integrity controls.
- Drive responsible adoption of approved automation and artificial intelligence capabilities within assigned eCompliance areas.
- Partner with Information Technology and business teams on computerized system validation and compliance topics.
- Review and approve validation documentation and determine Good Practice applicability for relevant computerized systems.
- Oversee validation status, change controls and deviations throughout the lifecycle of regulated computerized systems.
- Provide eCompliance expertise for strategic projects, supplier assessments, audits and health authority inspections.
- Monitor regulatory and industry developments to strengthen standards, quality processes and emerging-technology readiness.

Obligatory Requirements:

- Significant experience in pharmaceutical environments, particularly within regulated Information Technology quality and compliance functions.
- Deep knowledge of global regulations governing computerized systems, including validation, lifecycle management and 21 CFR Part 11.
- Strong experience developing, implementing and managing computerized systems throughout their lifecycle in regulated environments.
- Experience managing quality across onsite, cloud-based, software-as-a-service, mobile and digital solutions in regulated settings.
- Demonstrated ability to collaborate across complex international teams, influence without formal authority and build trusted partnerships.
- Excellent communication, negotiation, facilitation and stakeholder-management skills, including interaction with management and health authority inspectors.

Desirable Requirements:

- Knowledge of data governance, data integrity, analytics, key performance indicators and key quality indicators.
- Understanding of cloud technologies, cybersecurity, automation, artificial intelligence and digital transformation in regulated environments.
